Dear David,

As we approach Father's Day, I want to remind you of the impact you have made in the lives of the 33 foster male youth who attended WHW's Boys2Men program this year. Your investment in providing suits to these at-risk youth equips them with the professional attire they need to secure employment as they transition from the care of the state to becoming economically independent with little guidance, provision or a safety net. Your team stepped-up to serve as role models and mentors to the fatherless and want to applaud you and each of them for their service, sacrifice and selflessness.

Recognizing its seventh year, WHW's Boys2Men program seeks to provide foster male youth who are currently or soon-to-be emancipated from the foster care system with the tools they need to successfully seek and secure employment. Compared to their peers from healthy, stable families, less than ten percent earn their college degrees and one in five experience homelessness within a year of leaving the foster care system.

The Boys2Men event empowered impressionable young men to improve their self-esteem, broaden their scope of possibilities and to provide them with the tools to prepare for the next stage in their lives and provide them with a brighter future. This event is not possible without the support from people like you and we value your investment in this one-of-a-kind event.

With much gratitude,
