

Dear David,

I wanted to personally say thank you for your support and contribution to both the real estate center and the NAIOP competition. It has been the best aspect of my real estate career and you made it possible.

Through the competition, I have been able to engage and work with professionals in both Denver and beyond, and I know these relationships will positively impact me as I move through my professional life. In fact, last week I was able to secure an interview at a local real estate shop due to my experience and exposure with the competition. I have also had numerous real estate professionals reach out to me via LinkedIn and email to not only express their congrats, but also interest in guiding me professionally.

This experience was not only amazing from a professional standpoint, but a personal one too. I have become best friends with my teammates, and I know they will also impact me as I continue to grow and learn. Given all the challenges this last year with Covid, these friendships have been an unexpected highlight.

Thank you so much for making this possible,

Simon Egerton
